In the water management cadastre from 1968 the quality of water for the two rivers Lafnitz and Raab has been established in to II and III.

Since it has not been purified the self-cleaning property of the rivers was not enough.

On behalf of the affected communities, supported by the Provincial Government of Burgenland, they have make studies for the waste water disposal in the Raabtal- and the Lafnitztalcommunities.

The two studies that provided two sewage treatment plants have been revised. As the most economical place for the sewage treatment plants is the place where we are now. The two waste water organisations "Unteres Lafnitztal" (foundation 1972) and "Raabtal" (foundation 1974) merged on 24. September 1974 to "Abwasserverband Bezirk Jennersdorf" together.

Over time came to the foundations communities Heiligenkreuz i.L., Eltendorf, Rudersdorf, Deutsch-Kaltenbrunn im Lafnitztal und Mogersdorf, Weichselbaum, Jennersdorf, St. Martin an der Raab und Minihof-Liebau im Raabtal, the new communities Neustift bei Güssing, Königsdorf, Kukmirn, Burgauberg/Neudauberg and Mühlgraben also the companies Vossen Frottier, Sattler Textilwerke OHG, Therme Loipersdorf and the Wirtschaftspark Heiligenkreuz Servicegesellschaft.

Furthermore, to be disposed on a contract basis the styrian communities Hohenbrugg-Weinberg, Unterlamm, Stein and Loipersdorf. Another party, the Hungarian City of Szent Gotthard with the surrounding communities.
